DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-11 are drawn to a method of forming a solder joint, classified in class 228, subclass 180.22.
- II. Claims 12-17 are drawn to a solder product, classified in class 428, subclass various.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions Group I and Group II are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the product can be made without reflowing the solder.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group I is not required for Group II, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

A telephone call was made to James Brady on 1-25-05 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

During a telephone conversation with James Brady on 1-25-05 a provisional election was made with traverse to prosecute the invention of Group II, claims 12-27. Affirmation of this election must be made by applicant in replying to this Office action. Claims 1-11 are withdrawn from further consideration by the examiner, 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a non-elected invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 12-27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Brofman et al. (6,283,359). Brofman et al. teach a solder joint having a nickel layer, a copper layer atop the nickel layer and a solder ball coupled to the copper layer (col. 4, ll. 1-50); wherein the nickel layer comprises nickel having a thickness of approximately 1 to 5 microns (col. 4, ll. 30-45); wherein the copper has a thickness of 0.6 to 6 microns (co. 4, ll. 40-45); where the BGA has a board has a plurality of metallized connection sites (col. 1, ll. 8-15). With respect to the CuSn claim limitation, it is the examiner's position that since Brofman et al. uses substantially the same metal layers coupled with substantially the same solder (i.e., tin based solder), the particular CuSn will be necessarily present. When the examiner has reason to believe that functional language asserted to be critical for establishing novelty in claimed subject matter may, in fact be an inherent characteristic of the prior art, the burden of proof is shifted to the applicant to prove that the subject matter shown in the prior art does not possess the characteristics relied upon. In re Fitzgerald et al. 205 USPQ 594.
